Be bold in selection

• Carr advises Otto Addo

By George Ernest Asare

FORMER Black Stars and Kumasi Asante Kotoko goalkeeper, Joseph Carr, has implored Ghanaian football fans to offer their unflinching support to the Black Stars ahead of the Qatar 2022 World Cup rather than putting undue pressure on the technical team to press the panic button following their average performance during the two friendly matches against Brazil and Nicaragua last month.

He has also advised the head coach, Otto Addo, and his assistants to take bold decisions in their selection for matches with priority given to form than the reputation of players.

Inspired by legend

FRENCH centre-back, William Saliba, grew up inspired by France and Arsenal legend, Thierry Henry, so when granted an opportunity to join Arsenal in 2019 for £27 million, it was a dream come true for the talented youngster.

Born to a Lebanese father and a Camerounian mother, the 21-year-old made his debut for the club in the 2022-23 season after which the BBC described his performance as "unruffled and virtually faultless".

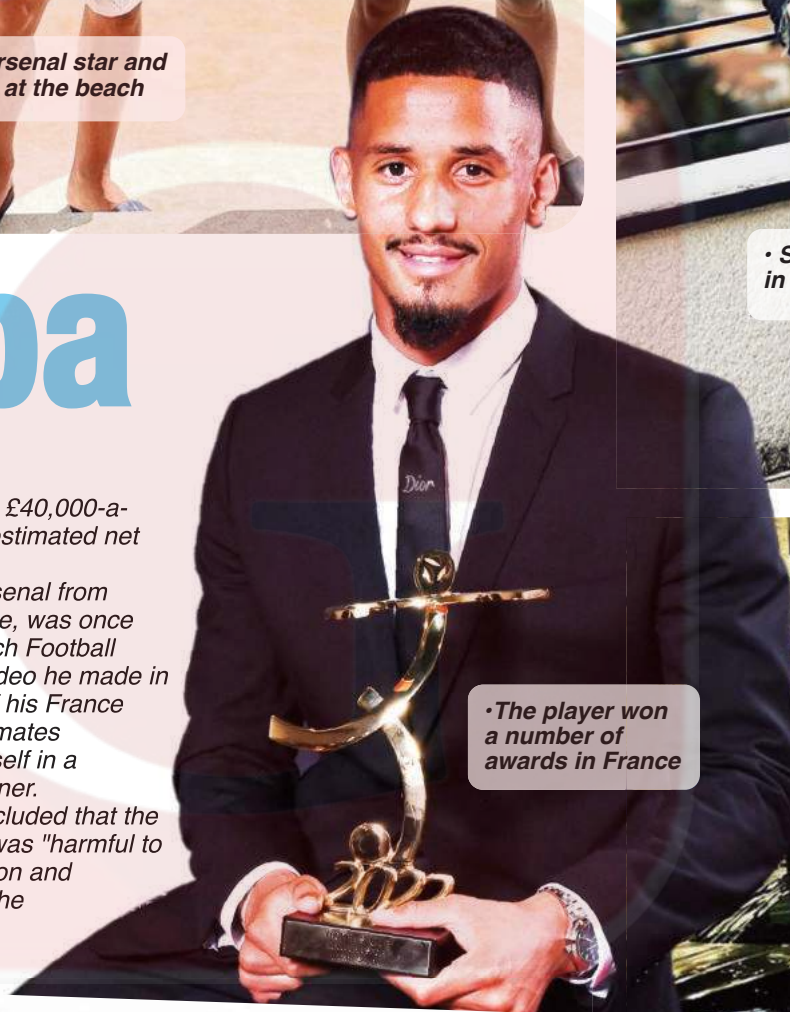

Beyond his performances on the field, the player has kept his private life away from the public's eye and the media.

In England, the youngster smiles to the bank each week with £40,000-a-week wage and has an estimated net worth of about £239,500.

Saliba, who joined Arsenal from French side Saint-Etienne, was once investigated by the French Football Federation following a video he made in 2018 that showed one of his France youth international teammates apparently touching himself in a sexually suggestive manner.

The investigation concluded that the video, filmed by Saliba, was "harmful to the image of the federation and football as a whole", but he escaped punishment.
